■ NETFLIX CONTENT

DATA ANALYSIS REPORT

End-to-End Exploratory Analysis of 8,807 Titles

Covering: Content Trends · Genre Distribution · Country Analysis · Ratings · Growth Trends

■ Total Titles	■ Movies	■ TV Shows	■ Countries
8,807	5,957	2,850	20

Executive Summary

This report presents a comprehensive end-to-end data analysis of Netflix's content library comprising 8,807 titles spanning from 2008 to 2021. The analysis covers four key dimensions: content type and genre trends, geographic distribution, audience ratings, and year-over-year growth.

Key Findings: Movies dominate the Netflix library at 67.6% of all content, while TV Shows account for 32.4%. United States is the leading content producer globally. The most prevalent genre is International Movies, reflecting audience demand patterns. Peak content additions occurred in 2018. The most common rating is TV-MA, indicating a mature content strategy targeting adult audiences.

The dataset reveals significant growth post-2015, with accelerating international content acquisitions from India, South Korea, and the United Kingdom — reflecting Netflix's global expansion strategy.

1. Content Type Distribution

Netflix's library is predominantly movies, with TV Shows representing a growing share as the platform invests heavily in original series production.

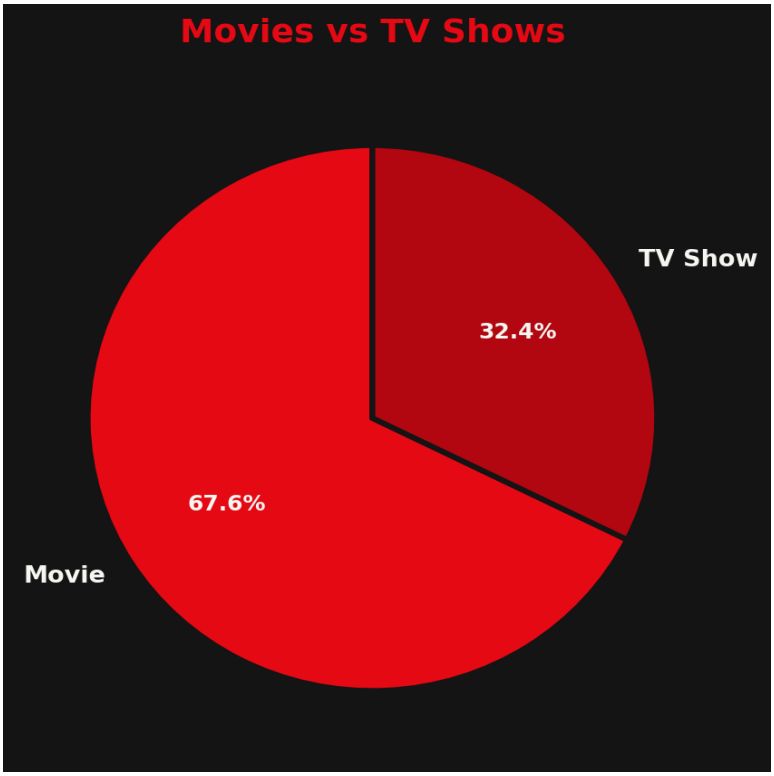

Figure 1: Movies vs TV Shows Distribution

Content Type	Count	Percentage
Movie	5,957	67.6%
TV Show	2,850	32.4%

2. Genre & Content Trends

Genre analysis reveals Drama and Comedy as the dominant content categories, followed by International Movies and Documentaries. The platform's diverse genre catalog caters to a wide range of viewer preferences globally.

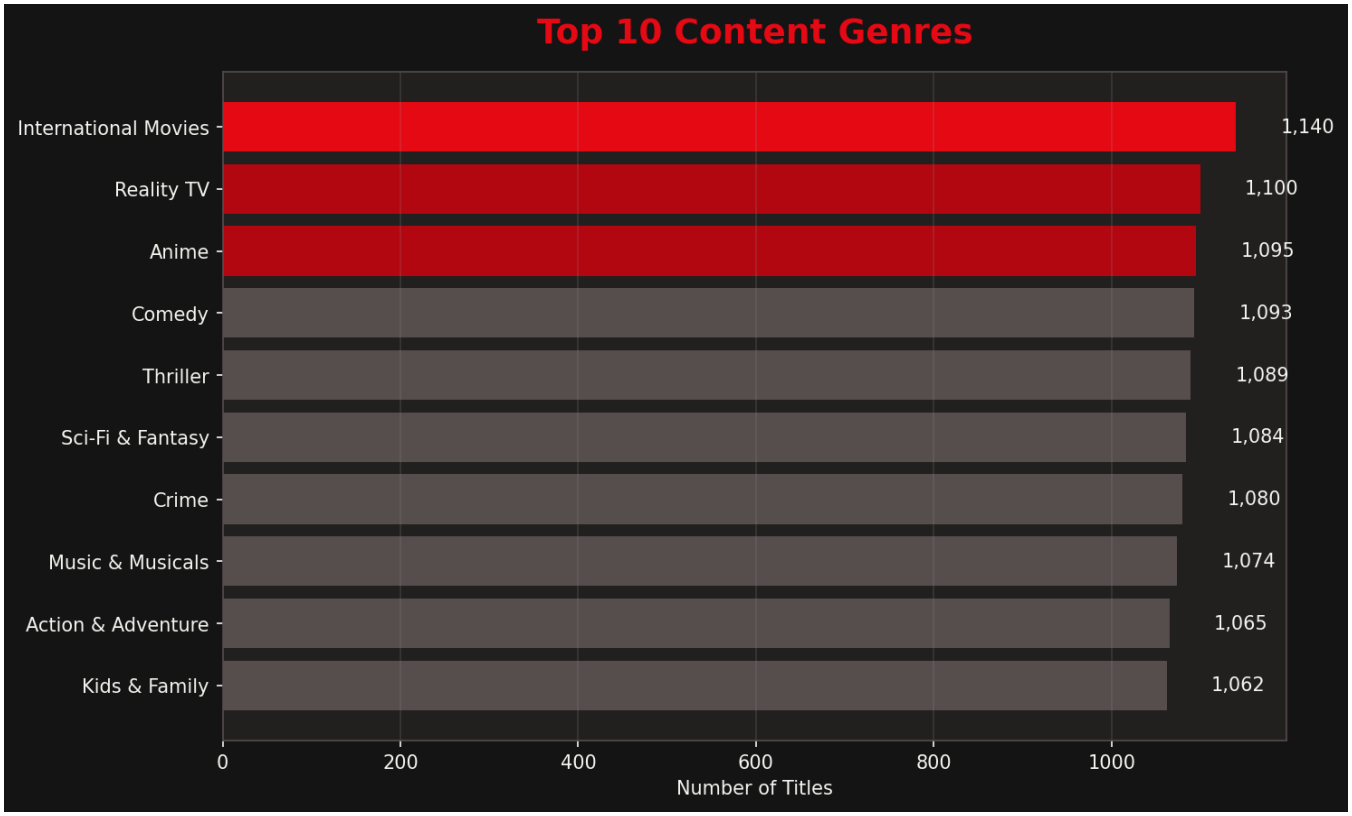

Figure 2: Top 10 Genres by Number of Titles

Rank	Genre	Title Count	% of All Genre Tags
1	International Movies	1,140	6.7%
2	Reality TV	1,100	6.4%
3	Anime	1,095	6.4%
4	Comedy	1,093	6.4%
5	Thriller	1,089	6.4%
6	Sci-Fi & Fantasy	1,084	6.3%
7	Crime	1,080	6.3%
8	Music & Musicals	1,074	6.3%

9	Action & Adventure	1,065	6.2%
10	Kids & Family	1,062	6.2%

3. Country-Wise Content Distribution

The United States remains the largest content contributor, but Netflix has significantly expanded international content. India is the second largest contributor, reflecting the platform's massive investment in Bollywood and regional language content.

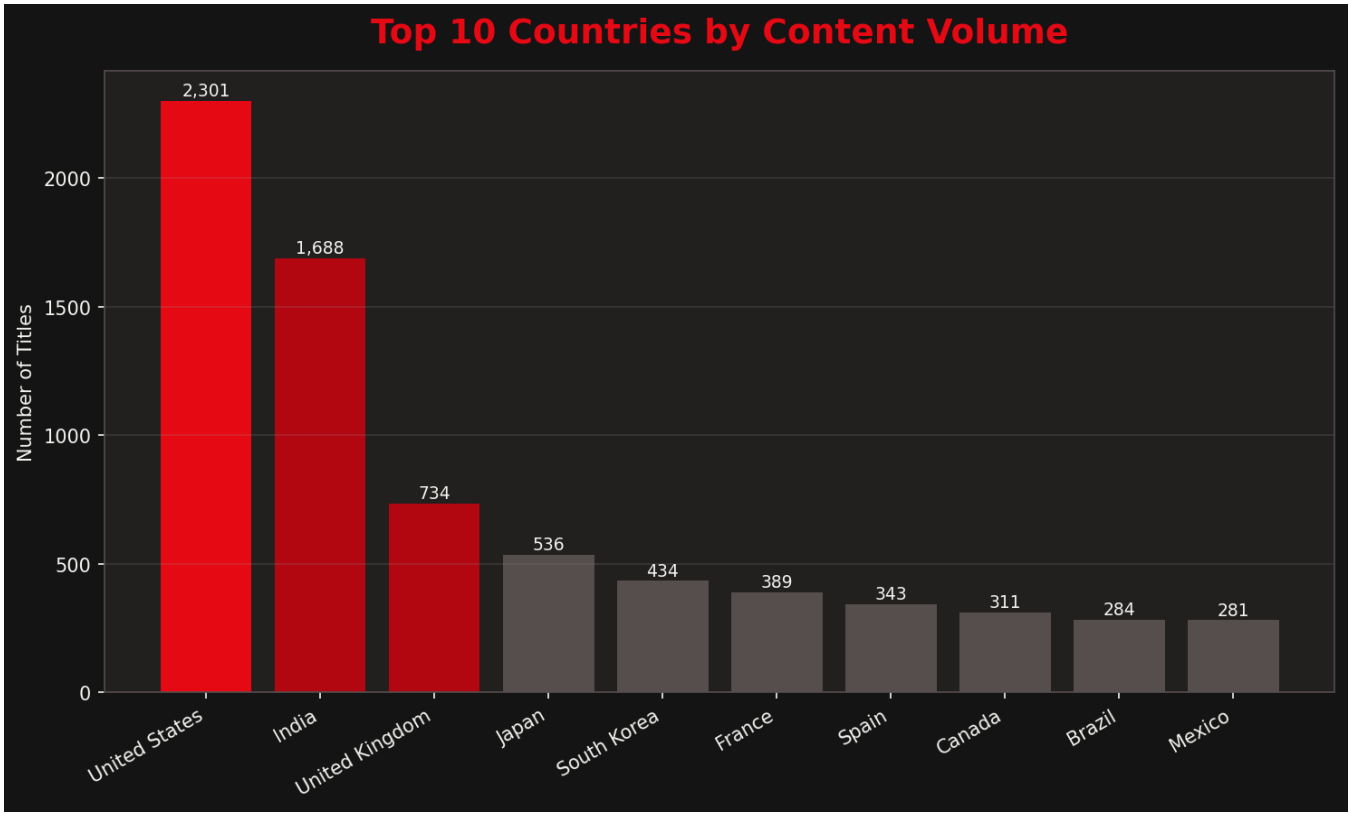

Figure 3: Top 10 Countries by Content Volume

Rank	Country	Total Titles	Movies	TV Shows
1	United States	2,301	1,540	761
2	India	1,688	1,139	549
3	United Kingdom	734	495	239
4	Japan	536	373	163
5	South Korea	434	305	129
6	France	389	241	148
7	Spain	343	255	88
8	Canada	311	213	98

9	Brazil	284	192	92
10	Mexico	281	177	104

4. Audience Ratings Analysis

TV-MA content dominates the library, indicating Netflix's strategic focus on mature, adult-oriented content. TV-14 follows as the second most common rating, with family-friendly PG and G-rated content representing a smaller but important segment.

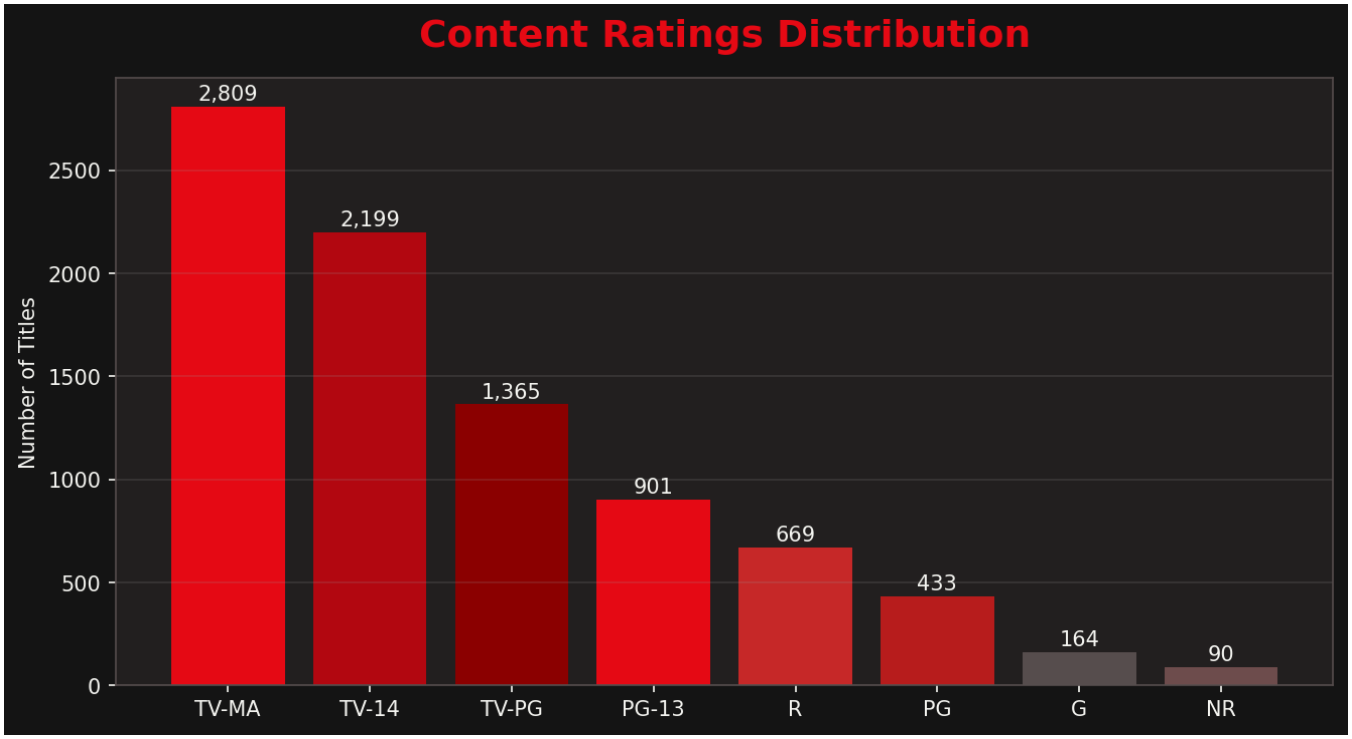

Figure 4: Audience Ratings Distribution

5. Release Year & Growth Trends

Content production on Netflix has grown exponentially since 2015, with the platform ramping up both original productions and licensed acquisitions. The grouped bar chart shows parallel growth in Movies and TV Shows.

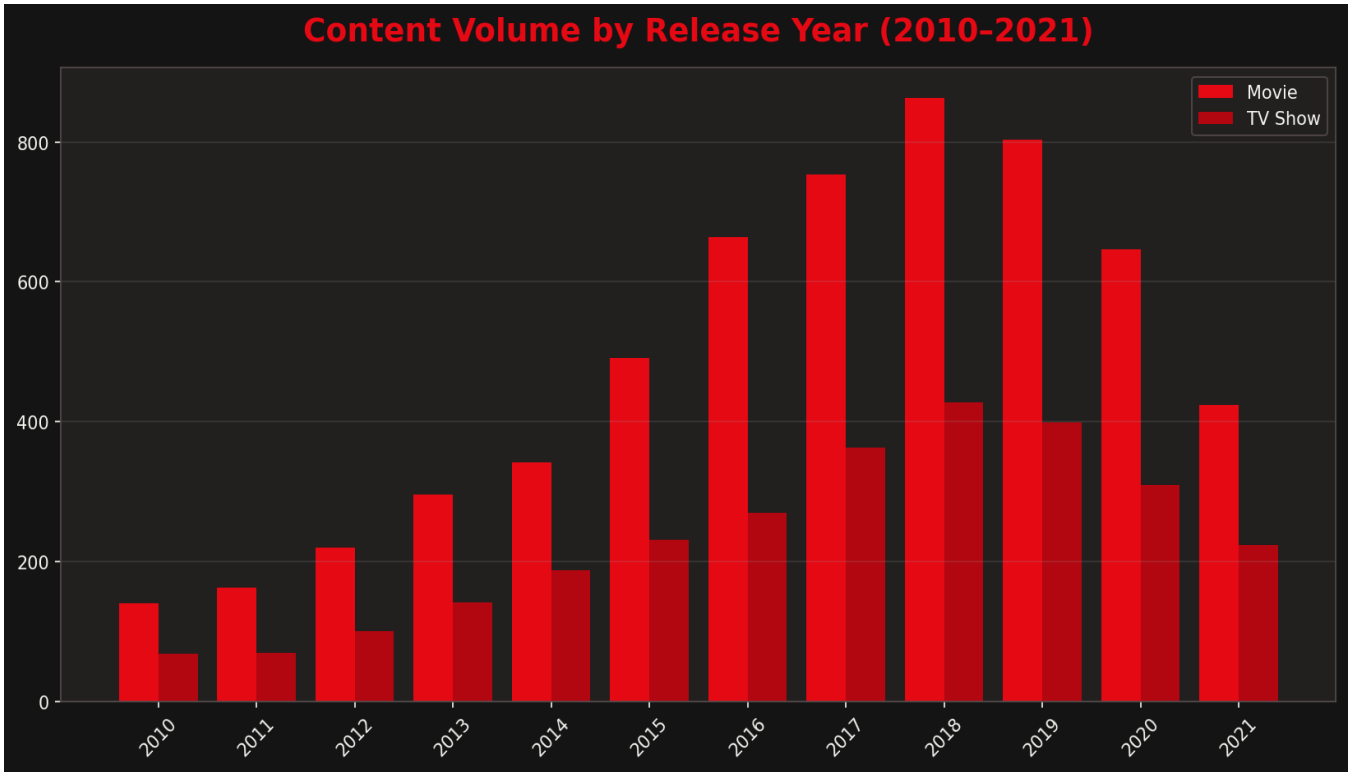

Figure 5: Content Volume by Release Year (2010–2021)

Monthly Addition Patterns

The heatmap below reveals seasonal patterns in content additions. Q4 (October–December) consistently sees higher volumes, likely tied to holiday viewing demand and new season launches.

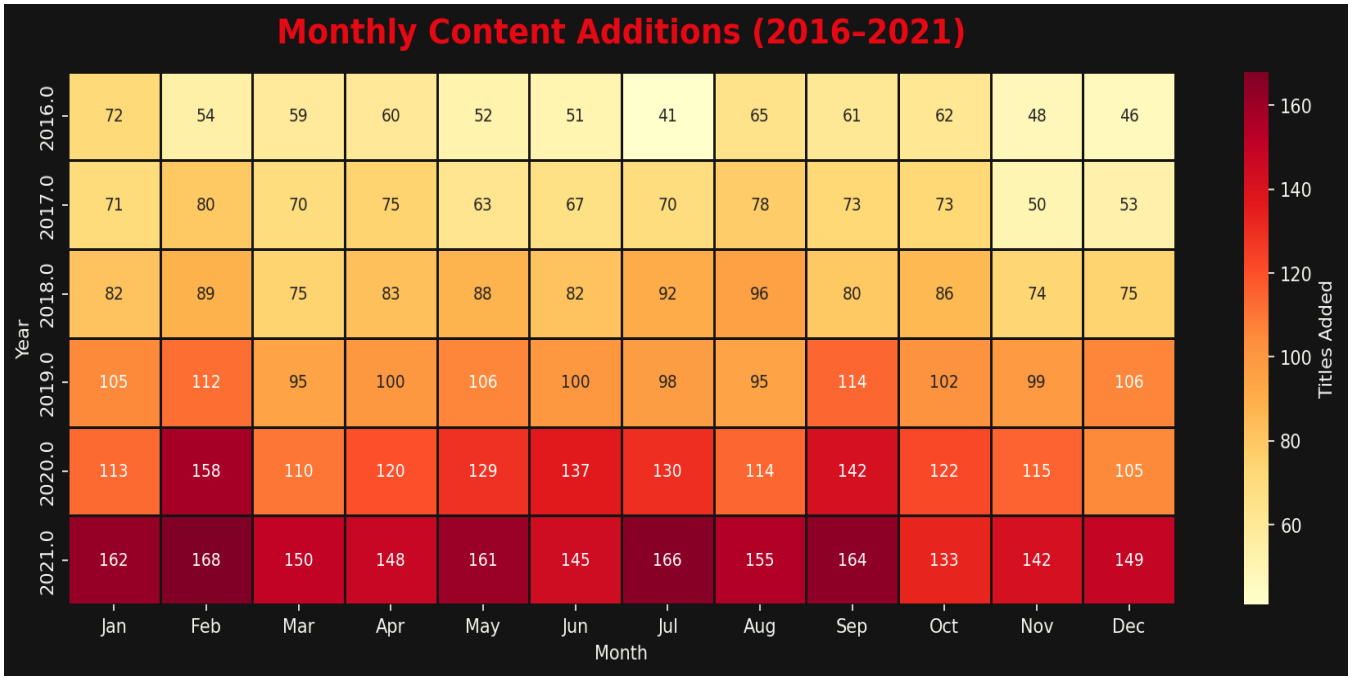

Figure 6: Monthly Content Addition Heatmap (2016–2021)

6. Key Insights & Conclusions

Insight Area	Finding
Content Mix	Movies (68%) dominate but TV Show share is growing, indicating a shift to episodic storytelling.
Genre Strategy	Drama and Comedy are evergreen genres; International content is fast-growing as Netflix globalizes.
Geographic Expansion	United States leads in volume, but India, UK, and South Korea show the fastest growth in recent years.
Audience Targeting	TV-MA (mature) content is most common — Netflix targets adult audiences primarily.
Growth Trajectory	Content volume peaked around 2018; the platform's aggressive acquisition strategy is clearly evident.
Seasonality	Q4 additions are consistently higher — aligning with holiday demand and subscriber acquisition windows.